SLOW COOKING

When I found out I would have surgery, I knew that I would not be able to sew on my machine, so I concocted a plan to coincide with my healing. I called it the "Slow Cooking" plan. I saved three pieced quilt tops with the binding on and one quilt ready to load onto the long arm to quilt, with the correct size batting and backing. I did not load it because I had a plan and a schedule that would coincide (hopefully) with the healing process of my foot. Cook a few meals and freeze. Here goes:

Week 1 - Take the prescribed pain medications as directed and hopefully remain in LA LA Land as much as possible. Follow doctors' orders!

Week 2 - Ease off the pain meds, get down the steps, and plan a bit more on how to make it to the bathroom in the middle of the night without waking Smokee, as he had been getting up faithfully putting the boot on my foot and I knew he needed the rest. Set up my hand sewing stuff down stairs in a place to sit up and stitch with a place nearby for elevating the foot. Follow doctors' orders!

Week 3 - Take no prescription meds. Sitting up long enough with my feet elevated to stitch on binding. Complete bindings. Follow.....

Week 4 - Loading the quilt onto the long arm. (That took two days - at about 2 hrs. each because I had to be on the foot and move around a lot more, and sitting for a while with the foot elevated.). Quilting the quilt. Make sure I am doing everything right so I can get a "driving" boot the following week. Follow.....

Week 5 - Good report from doctor and got the driving boot! Remove quilt from long arm, square up and stitch on the binding on the machine..... with my driving boot. I needed to drive my sewing machine!

I bet y'all thought I wanted that boot to drive my vehicle - no ma'am, no sir. (I did not think that Smokee had yet experienced the whole "for better or worse" part of the marriage vows, so he continued to drive, bring coffee to my bed, etc.) Just remember that as we age, we may have health issues to deal with. Don't panic. Make a slow cooking plan and you will be happy and content. You might want to cook and freeze a few meals, as you will! Get tired of take out foods. Until next time.....

2019 Quilt Challenge

"Color My World"

This year's challenge is to use a triadic color scheme in your project. Choose 3 colors that are equally spaced on the color wheel. You may use tints or shades of these 3 colors. In order to complete your design, you may use any neutrals such as white, beige, gray or black.

Suggestions:

- 1) Find a color wheel to look at. Did you make one in Rachel's class? Do you have a quilt book that has a wheel? Do you have a tablet or computer where you can Google "Color Wheel"?
- 2) Look at a color wheel and find 3 colors that are equally spaced around the wheel such as: green, purple and orange. If you choose this triad of colors you can use any shades or tints of green, purple and orange in your quilt. Next you can add any neutrals to your quilt.
- 3) For fun but not required: Download this free or cheap APP on your phone or tablet, Color Wheel-Basic color schemes in the app, click on the icon "wheel" in the lower left to change the wheel from basic to tints or shades of colors. Next click on the 2nd icon from the left at the bottom. This icon will show you all of the triadic color choices.

Your fabric choices do not have to be solids. Try using this challenge as a stash buster!

RULES

Anything quilted and finished can be entered, such as tote bags, table runners, wall hangings, or quilts. The only size restriction is that the perimeter is 240 inches or less.

The quilts are due at the night meeting in September. Judging two categories Traditional and Artistic, prizes for the 1st 3 places in each categories and fun.
