President's Message

The leaves are turning and the air is a little crisper. It's getting to my favorite time of the year, and the quilt shops are full of Fall, Winter, Christmas and holiday fabric!!! Can it get any better than that?!

Thank you to all who participated in the Challenge quilt. Bev Mahle gave us the opportunity to use our imagination and creativity. The results were amazing! Congratulations to our winners who are listed later in this newsletter. If you missed the meeting to see the challenge quilts, they will be on display at the library during the month of October. Stop by and take a look!

It's still not too late to sort through things in your sewing room. You might be surprised at what you no longer need or have use for! Call Libby Armstrong and let her know you have things (in good or better condition) to donate. Our annual R'auktion is scheduled for October 25. You're encouraged to come early to look around at the items that we'll be bidding on. Bring a pencil and paper to write the lot numbers (numbers on the boxes) that you want to bid on. We'll keep the business meeting as brief as possible so that we can get underway and get to the fun of bidding and drawing prizes. We're planning no breaks during the R'auktion, and payments can be made to Tina at the end as you leave. This will help expedite things and we can all get out on time! Be sure to read further in the newsletter for more details.

Don't forget our Fall Fashion Show, scheduled for November 8, 2012. Doreen Thornton is heading up the program that day, so I have a challenge for everyone. I want to see if anyone can "out bling" Doreen! Again, another opportunity to show off your creativity and talent!

I apologize if there are times that some of you may have called me and left a message on my home number and not received a call back. We have temporarily disconnected the house phone. Please check at the bottom of this message for my cell phone number.

I was so encouraged by the turnout at our Ice Cream Social/Challenge Quilt meeting on September 27. I would love to see that many people at every meeting. It's going to be "re-upping" time pretty soon and I'm hoping to see each and everyone of your names on the 2013 membership list.

Each of us, with our unique talents brought together in Cherokee Rose, make up a wonderful group with many offerings to the community and each other.

Get sewing on those runway projects for November 8!

CHEROKEE ROSE NIGHT MINUTES 27 Sep 2012

Challenge Turn-IN and Ice Cream Social

Dori Holt, President, opened the meeting at 7pm, and turned the beginning of the evening over to Beverly Mahle who introduced the three judges for the CHALLENGE. Tracy (from Kiwi Quilts), Pat and Jackie (from Stitch 'n' Quilt) were welcomed and invited to partake in the Ice Cream Social immediately as there was no refrigeration for the ice cream.

The Judges juried the challenge quilts and read each explanation of how the quilts came into being from the “inspirational object” in the brown bag from Bev last January.

1. Jennie Hollis – “BBQ” from the matches in her bag,
2. Broach Winsley – “How and Why Sue Got Her Bonnet” from bobby pins in her bag, and
3. Irene Gardner – “Rubber Band Blossoms” from rubber bands in her bag. CONGRATULATIONS AND ENJOY YOUR GIFT CERTIFICATES.

Everyone enjoyed the getting-soft ice cream and many treats and toppings brought by members. The HOSPITALITY COMMITTEE thanked everyone AND declared IT A GREAT SUCCESS.

Dori recognized the birthdays while we all ate our caloric-less treats.

MEMBERSHIP: Vickie and Charlene counted 35 members and 7 visitors (with 3 judges). The room was FULL and happy and sugar - filled. It was decided we need more ice cream !! They welcomed Diane Johnson back from the northern parts. Jane Wilding and her husband Les were recognized and she “walked for us” without her walker or a cane. HURRAY!

HISTORIAN: Charlie Phaneuf called for any articles to include in the scrap book.

PROGRAMS: Irene said October Day Mtg October Day meeting would be an Art Lesson by Ben Hollingsworth. Even IF you do not participate in the lesson, come watch, bring a sack lunch, and learn about using various methods to color, treat fabric. It's a beginning class and he can handle 20 in the class. WATCHERS, you're welcome to watch !!!! Plan on staying til 3pm in the “Big Room.”

Albertha will teach “Rosettes” while Phyllis Smith will conduct a fabric sale at the Nov Nite Meeting.

The Day Mtg in November will be “The Fashion Show” and Dori put out a “challenge” for the whole Guild to try to “out-bling” Dorene !! Have something besides a PURSE OR BAG, please.

As a reminder, for those who love Square in a Square, sign up at Stitch 'n' Quilts, $5, for a trunk show on Wednesday, 1 October, 11:30am – 2:30pm.

SUNSHINE: Jane and Eleanor were both present. Caryl Knox has changed medications. Gail Ford's sister, Julia Steinberg, died last Sunday. Rachael will have exploratory surgery October 23rd to find out WHY her hip still hurts after years of pain. Charlene can see again after getting some new glasses! Please keep these praises and healings and heart breaks in your prayers.

WAYS AND MEANS: Libby reminded the Guild to get your extra "stuff" to either her or Broach for safe keeping until the RAuction at the October Night Meeting. Libby's number is 770-265-9785. Terry Tinsley won the September Surprise Drawing. Libby also thanked Linda and Emma for donating fabric and a book.

BEE KEEPER: Annie reported that, IF Caryl is feeling well enough, the October BEE will be at her place. In any event, Anne will keep the Guild up to date via email.

CHRISTMAS COMMITTEE: It was decided, rather than a gift exchange among members, that each quilter attending the party could take a staple food item for the Douglasville Pantry.

COMMUNITY SERVICE: Emma reported that she had 146 placemats. She made labels, "Made by Cherokee Rose Quilt Guild" to put on the back of each one. Her goal is 160.

GA Quilt Council is 23 October. More info may follow.

QUILT TIL U WILT: Ann stated that it will be held in the "Big Room" across the hall and we'll have kitchen privileges. Take plenty to sew and cut and eat for lunch. Supper will be decided on the premises.

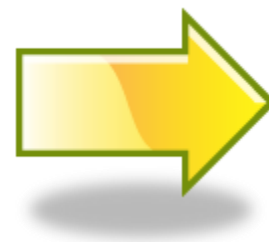

PUBLICITY: Linda said that the annual display at the Public Library on Selman Drive will be up for October. This year two glassed showcases will be filled. So, please take small items for display the library Monday Morning at 9 am.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.
